

The Hunt for the Dingo by PJ Nash

5 stars

Female Backpackers, the Outback and a Psychopath equals Murder.

In the Australian outback a killer, dubbed the Dingo, is killing female backpackers. To help find the killer ex British cop, Lawrence James, and psychologist, Jesse Sanderson, are brought in to catch this heinous killer.

Lawrence James also has unfinished business with Melbourne crime boss, Cyrus Bain, a gangster who will do anything to stay out of prison. James will do anything to keep the man in jail. He is the main witness in Bain's trial and must stay alive.

A fast action complex story which will have you gripped until the end.

I read this book very quickly as the chapters were short and action fast, so it was the case of one more chapter! I enjoyed the book very much as I liked the characters, good and bad, and thought Lawrence James was an amusing hero with bravado hiding his fears.

The stories could have been separated into two books and would have worked just as well if not better.

A thoroughly enjoyable read and I hope to read more by this author.
